BETHEL AND VICINITY

Carl M. Hansman is enrolled at Cornell University in the '37 Arts class.

Mrs. Norman Sanborn and Mrs. Grant Maxson were in Portland on Saturday.

Grant Maxson of Baltimore, Md., is spending a 10 days' leave with Mrs. Maxson.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Van spent the week end with her parents at Weeks Mills.

Irving Kimball of Boston, Mass., spent Thursday with his sister, Mrs. Norman Sanborn.

Mrs. Edward Garneau, Mrs. Arch Verville, and Mrs. Laurence Lord were in Lewiston Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knowlton of Farmington were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lurvey.

Mrs. Edward Garneau of Berlin, N. H., has been the guest of Mrs. Archie Verville for several days.

Mrs. Katherine Mansfield of Brookline, Mass., was calling on friends in town Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Tena Thurston spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Perley Flint at Boscobuck Camps, Wilson's Mills.

Mrs. Gordon Earl Lathrop spent Thursday afternoon with her parents at the Burris farm in West Bethel.

Warren Hutchinson and John Currier went to the C. C. C. camp at Greenville Sunday, where they are enrolled.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeland Clark of Boscobuck Camps, Wilson's Mills, went last week with Mr. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Clark.

Victor Brooks of Holt Hill, a freshman at Gould Academy, killed a bear cub Tuesday afternoon. He was bird hunting, equipped only with bird shot and a single barrel shot gun.

The regular meeting of the Eastern Star Ways and Means Club will be held in the lodge room, Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 8 o'clock. It is hoped as many members as possible will be present.

John Schaffner of Dover, Mass., of the bureau of entomology, U. S. Department of Agriculture, is in the vicinity in search of an insect which is preying on the gray and white birches of Maine.

Mrs. Percy Brinck, Mrs. Arthur Dudley, Mrs. Norman Sanborn, Mrs. Philip Chapman, Mrs. Edward Bennett and Mrs. Mary Ladd, attended the Past Chiefs' banquet at Hotel Harris, Rumford, Tuesday, Oct. 10.

Guests from Bryant Pond, West Paris, Norway, and Rumford were present at the annual inspection of Parity Chapter, O. E. S., on Wednesday evening, Oct. 4. Supper was served at 6.30. The inspecting officer, Mrs. Lottie B. Hubbard, was the recipient of a gift during the evening.

The Lions of the 41st District held a Presidents' and Secretaries' Conference at Elmwood Hotel, Waterville, Sunday. Among those who attended from Bethel were Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Den Kerkhoven, F. J. Merrill, Miss Harriet Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Hastings, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Thurston.

BASEBALL, SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The second game of the Rumford-Gorham series will be played at Riverside Park next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. This is the game planned for last Sunday but which was not played on account of rain.

EASY ACES RECONVENE FOR SEASON OF BRIDGE

The bridge club known as Easy Aces met for the first time on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Winona Cutler. This year there are three tables playing, as four new members have been added to the club, namely: Mrs. Ruth Carver, Mrs. Alberta Wilson, Mrs. Dorothy Tucker and Mrs. Patricia Bennett.

It has been decided to carry out the same plan of score keeping used last year, which was to keep each individual score until the end of the season when each player chooses a prize in turn, from the highest to the lowest scorer.

Others playing besides the hostesses and four new members were Mrs. Doris Bryant, Mrs. Doris Lord, Mrs. Jane Van, Mrs. Grace MacFarlane, Mrs. Elsie Davis, Mrs. Thelma Van and Mrs. Olive Lurvey.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess during the evening.

Mrs. Dorothy Tucker was appointed newspaper correspondent and Mrs. Grace MacFarlane, official score keeper.

Mrs. Doris Lord invited the club to meet with her next week.

REHEARSALS STARTED FOR "HEADS UP"

"Heads Up!" the hit show of the year, being presented by the Legion Oct. 26 and 27 in Odeon Hall, has its entire cast and rehearsals are starting Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock in the Legion Rooms.

The show takes in 100 local talented people and is chock-full of excellent original music and lyrics.

A specialty skit entitled "Good Morning Judge!" runs in between the acts. It is a divorce trial of a colored couple, Asphasia and George Washington Jones, taken by Albert Flanders and Philip Chapman respectively. The dignified and impressive Judge is Evander Whitman, and the Foreman of the Jury, Edward Lyon.

STORY—RAMSELL

The double ring service was used by the Rev. William Sinclair when Miss Adelaide L. Ramsell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn W. Ramsell of Bethel, became the bride of Edward Elwyn Storey of Wilson's Mills on Oct. 5.

The bride was graduated from Gould Academy in the class of 1931. She also attended Gray's Business College in Portland.

The groom is the eldest son of Bertha Bennett Storey and the late Robert Storey of Wilson's Mills. He received his education in Errol, N. H. Mr. Storey is employed as guide at Boscobuck Camps.

After a wedding trip through Canada Mr. and Mrs. Storey will live at Wilson's Mills.

GOULD HOLDS HEBRON RESERVES TO SCORELESS TIE

Gould Academy and the Hebron Reserves played a bitterly fought contest on a wet and slippery field last Saturday to end all even. The reserves were a rather big team but the Gould line held its own against the more experienced Hebron outfit. During the last half the Blue and Gold had the better of the argument and were steadily marching toward the opponents' goal when Martinson fumbled on the first down after a beautiful 38-yd. pass. P. Browne to R. Browne. The local line is steadily improving its play, especially on the defense. They should make a great showing against coming foes.

The backfield is still not functioning to perfection but Coaches Myers and Anderson are working hard this week to bolster up this department.

MECHANIC FALLS TEAM HERE SAT.

Visitors Defeated Hebron Reserve Team Last Saturday—Strong Opposition Expected

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the veteran Mechanic Falls football team will play Gould on the local athletic field. The visitors are coming with a heavy team composed of veterans from last year's eleven. They have made an excellent showing to date, having held a strong South Paris team to a 13-0 count and last week defeating a reserve team from Hebron 7-0.

The local outfit should be in fine shape for this contest. Traut Bartlett, regular half-back, will probably be back in his position after last week's lay-off due to a head injury. Stan Allen will go back to his end position thus giving strength to the right end of the line.

The game Saturday is one of three games which will be played in successive weeks on the local grid-iron. Local football enthusiasts are looking forward to these games.

LIONS CLUB TO RESUME MEETINGS AT BETHEL INN

The Bethel Lions Club will resume its meetings at Bethel Inn on Tuesday, October 17th, at 6.30. Dist. Gov. Maurice Orbeton and Dept. Dist. Gov. Sam Conner will be present and it is expected that Governor Louis J. Brann will be present. We have the travelling bell and a number of clubs are sending representatives in hopes to take the bell home with them.

It will be ladies' night and a good program has been arranged.

FRESHMAN RECEPTION

The annual Freshman Reception at Gould Academy was held in the William Bingham Gymnasium on Thursday, Oct. 5, under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Club. Dr. and Mrs. George Farnsworth received with Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hanscom, Miss Ella Littlefield, Miss Shirley Cole, and Richard Davis. A very pleasing program was presented under the direction of Miss Ruth Leavengood, head of the department of Dramatics and Vocal Music.

The hall was beautifully decorated in autumn colors and autumn leaves by Shirley Cole, Arthur Gibbs, Barbara Bennett, Ruth Hay, and Floyd Thurston. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served by Marguerite Hall, Stanley Allen, Eldredge Berry, Ruby Hodsdon, Winona Chapin, Traut Bartlett, Marian Hutchins, Marguerite Brooks, and Ruth Hodsdon.

Richard Davis, Mary Tibbets, Charles Dwyer, Ruth Hodsdon, Arthur Gibbs, Shirley Cole, and Stanley Allen were members of the general committee presenting the reception to the freshmen.

DON QUIXOTE CLUB

Some pupils of the eighth grade remained after school Wednesday afternoon to elect the officers for this year of the Don Quixote Club.

Officers: President—Talbot Crane Vice-President—Royden Keady Secretary—Jane Chapin Treasurer—Geraldine Stanley Chairman Executive Committee—John King

The meetings of this club will be held at the Legion rooms at 6.30 o'clock Wednesday nights.

Miss Emma Marshall is working for Mrs. Frank Robertson.

THIRD FLOOR CONCRETE POURED THIS WEEK AT NEW GOULD BUILDING

The new Gould Academy administration building is fast assuming its finished appearance. During the past week the exterior columns of the front portico have been erected. The concrete of the third floor has been poured and about two-thirds of the roof steel is in place. The steel door frames are being set. Next week will begin planking the roof. This is done with reinforced gypsum planks, 15 inches wide and 10 feet long. The steel work will be completed in about a week.

LEGION INSTALLS OFFICERS

The annual installation of officers of the George A. Muntz Post, No. 81, American Legion, was held at their rooms Tuesday evening. The officers were installed by Roger Eastman, commander of the Oxford County Council, after which a lunch was enjoyed. The new officers are:

MRS. SOPHIA BARTLETT

The death of Sophia Roberts Bartlett, aged 76, of Manchester, Mass., occurred suddenly Thursday morning, September 28, at the home of her brother, L. B. Roberts, of Hanover. Mrs. Bartlett had come to Hanover from Dorchester just a week before her death to attend the funeral of her brother, Leon Roberts, held Sept. 22. Mrs. Bartlett seemed in good health and arose in the morning as usual, her death occurring suddenly a short time later from heart trouble. She had planned to return to Dorchester last week.

Mrs. Bartlett was born in Hanover, the daughter of James and Beulah Bartlett Roberts. She spent her early life in Hanover, attending schools there and later attended Gould Academy and Bridgton Academy. Following her marriage to G. F. Bartlett of Bethel the couple resided here, but for the past 26 years she has made her home in Dorchester.

Surviving are one brother, J. B. Roberts, Hanover, a son, George Elizabeth, N. J., two daughters, Beulah and Stella, residing in Dorchester, and one grandchild. She was a member of the Universalist church.

The body was taken to Dorchester, Mass., for burial and services were held there Sunday from the home at 2.30 o'clock. Dr. Coons, State Superintendent of Universalist Churches, conducting the service. A personal tribute was read by Mrs. Anne Burton Haskell, of Holyoke, Mass., daughter of a former pastor of the Universalist church, Bethel, and a great friend of the family. A poem written by Mrs. Bartlett was read at the service by Mrs. Haskell. Burial was in Dorchester.

Many Bethel friends were saddened to learn of the death of Mrs. Sophia Bartlett. She was well known in town where she lived for some 12 years. A loyal member of the Universalist Church, she was a devoted worker in all its branches and much beloved by the members of her Sunday School class. Her sweetness and her cordial friendship to all with whom she came in contact will long be remembered by her neighbors and friends.

HERE AND THERE IN MAINE

Lost in the woods overnight, Fred Bither, Jr., 15-year-old Houlton boy, met his father with a searching party Saturday. Without food, axe, matches or warm clothing he made use of his Boy Scout training and erected a make-shift lean-to where he slept. In the early morning he found a hunters' camp where he was fed and given a map by which he made his way out.

Wallace Rider Farrington, a native of Orono, passed away at Honolulu Friday at the age of 62 years. He attended Bridgton Academy and graduated from the University of Maine in 1891. He became a reporter on Maine and New York papers and went to the Hawaiian Islands in 1894 where he followed newspaper work, becoming manager of the Star Bulletin. He was Governor of Hawaii from 1921 to 1923.

Snowcraft Inc. of Norway has a contract to furnish 1,276 pairs of snowshoes to the U. S. Army for use by the Civilian Conservation Corps in New England. The cost to the government will be $618 per pair. The Snowcraft plant will operate two shifts of 14 hours each, employing 30 men. The officers of the Norway company are: Robert Allen, president; Homer Aldrich, secretary-treasurer; Robert Dow, clerk.

Pro Lumberia Mills was sold by the receiver last week for $100,000 to Robert Brann of Portland, representing note holders.

The first semi-annual test of automobile brake and light equipment will be started Oct. 15 under the direction of the Secretary of State. Until Nov. 15 all cars inspected and approved will be equipped with stickers. After that date cars found below standard will be given four days for correction and registration will be revoked if not in compliance with the law then.

Prof. Maurice D. Jones of the University of Maine has been granted a three months leave of absence to conduct a survey in the first Federal Bank district in the adjustment of loaning policies to meet the farm credit situation.

Phyllis Rowell, 16, of Montville, and Alfred Jackson, 34, were shot to death last week by Elwood Kane, 22, an admirer of Montville, while the victims were returning from a dance. Kane committed suicide. All were instantly killed.

Keep Watch for the "Feverish Cold"

If you are "run down" or out of condition, if sluggish bowels have allowed poisonous impurities to accumulate in your system, you are very liable to suffer from "feverish" colds.

Dr. True's Elixir

Laxative Worm Expeller

will ward off or lessen these attacks by getting relief from constipation.

Mrs. E. W. Stephan of 31 Kennerly Road, Dorchester, Mass., writes: "It was recommended to me by a relative who had used it for years, and I in turn most sincerely recommend it, most of all for children, but also as a laxative for adults."

Successfully used for 82 years.

WITH THE POETS

To Our Readers—If there is an old song or poem which you cannot find and would like to see in print, write the Citizen. If we are unable to locate it possibly another reader can furnish it for publication.

STEADFAST

Everard Jack Appleton

If I can help another bear an ill
By bearing mine with somewhat
Of good grace—
Can take Fate's thrusts with not Too long a face
And help him through his trials,
Then I WILL!
For do not braver men than I Decline
To bow to troubles graver, far,
Than mine?

Pain twists the body? Yes, but it Shall not
Distort my soul, by all the gods
That be!
And when its done its worst,
Pain's victory
Shall be an empty one! What'er
My lot,
My banner, ragged, but nailed to
The mast,
Shall fly triumphant to the very Last!

Others so much worse off than I
Have fought;
Have smiled—have met defeat
With unbent head
They shame me into following
Where they led.
Can I ignore the lesson they have taught?
Strike hands with me! Dark is
The way we go,
But souls courageous line it—
That I know!

A PHILOSOPHER

John Kendrick Bangs

To take things as they be—
That's my philosophy.
No use to holler, moan, or cuss—
If they were changed they might be worse.

If rain is pourin' down,
An' lightnin' buzzin' 'round,
I can't a-learnin' we'll be lit,
But grin that I ain't out in it.

If I got deep in debt—
It hasn't happened yet—
And owed a man two dollars, Gee!
Why I'd be glad it wasn't three.

If some one come along,
And tried to do me wrong,
Why I should sort of take a whim
To thank the Lord I wasn't him.

I never seen a night
So dark there wasn't light
Somewheres about if I took care
To strike a match and find out where.

LITTLE BROWN HANDS

Anonymous

They drive home the cows from the pasture
Up through the long, shady lane,
Where the quail whistles loud in the wheat field
That is yellow with ripening
grain.

They find in the thick, waving grasses
Where the scarlet-lipped strawberry grows;
They gather the earliest snowdrops
And the first crimson buds of the rose.

They toss the hay in the meadow,
They gather the elder-bloom
white;
They find where the dusky grapes
purple
In the soft-lit October light.

They know where the apples hang ripest—
And are sweeter than Italy's wines;
They know where the fruit hangs thickest
On the long thorny blackberry vines.

They gather the delicate seaweeds,
And build tiny castles of sand;
They pick up the beautiful sea-
shells,
Fairy barks that have drifted to land.

They wave from the tall, rocking
tree-tops,
Where the oriole's hammock-neat
swings;
And at night-time are folded in alumber
By a song that a fond mother
sings.

Those who toll bravely are strongest,
The humble and poor become
great;
And from those brown-handed children
Shall grow mighty rulers of state.

The pen of the author and statesman,
The noble and wise of our land—
The sword and the chisel, and palette,
Shall be held in the little brown
hand.

Those who toll bravely are strong-
est,
The humble and poor become
great;
And from those brown-handed children
Shall grow mighty rulers of
state.

Perkins Valley — Woodstock

Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Kimball of Bryant Pond were guests of Nelson Perham and family Wednesday. After dinner they all took an auto trip through Greenwood, visiting several places of interest to them. It was an ideal day and much enjoyed.

The young folks of the neighborhood held a marshmallow roast on the ball diamond at Bernal Thur-low's farm Saturday night. It was cool and rather damp but the huge bonfire lent a cheery welcome to all and the evening was enjoyed in various stunts and toasting marshmallows.

Charles Silver and Ellsworth Laurence are building a camp on the Silver farm where Mr. Laurence and his father will make their home.

Charlie Sanborn, who is living in Sumner, was here several re-

Subject: Current Events, "The N. R. A. and the Codes," Mrs. Penley; "Trouble in Cuba," Mrs. Abbott; "Inflation—What is it?" Mrs. Knight; "The Growth of Nationalism," Mrs. Perham. Mrs. Abbott will be hostess to the next meeting on Oct. 20.

The Felix 4-H Club held their contest in Good Will Hall Friday evening, Oct. 6. A good number of interested relatives and friends were present to see the excellent work which had been done under the leadership of Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Farr, Mrs. Ring, and Mrs. Chase. Miss Watters, county leader, reported the club as having one hundred points. Those who received a blue ribbon for first honors were: Elinora Curtis, sewing; Glendine Ring, sewing; Kathryn Perham, cooking; Edwinna Mann, cooking; Frances Pike, cooking; Shirley Perham, sewing; Lucy Curtis, sewing. Several red ribbons were awarded other members of the club for good work.

Mrs. Lena Sewall Herrick had as her guest her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles M. Sewall, of Fairfield, last Sunday and Monday. Mrs. Sewall attended church service.

Mrs. Herrick has moved from Mrs. Belle Robinson's, and is pleasantly situated in the upstairs rooms at Miss Ella Berry's.

Largest of Military Planes

Workmen require ladders and runways to traverse the various parts of this flying boat which was launched at Elmdon, England, as the largest military plane in the world. It is a short six engine plane, built for open sea reconnaissance and long distance patrol work and constructed entirely of metal except for coverings of the outer sections of the wings. Despite its great weight of 31½ tons fully laden, the machine is amazingly fast.

GROVER HILL

Miss Evelyn Whitman from Northwest Bethel was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mr. Clyde L. Whitman quite recently.

Mrs. Elden C. Mills is the guest of friends at Bolster's Mills, after a vacation with her son, B. S. Tyler, and family at East Bethel, and also with her daughters, Mrs. Bertha T. Mason and Mrs. Arthur Garber, Bethel.

Mrs. Ruth Blake and daughter Shirley, and Mrs. Blake's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Goodrich and daughter Lois, and Miss Ruth Pike, all from Portsmouth, N. H., were week end guests at C. L. and E. B. Whitman's.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Andrews from Norway were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Evander B. Whitman and son Robert Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wight and children from Norway were Sunday callers of friends on this Hill.

Alfred J. Peaslee is digging potatoes for Burton Abbott. He also dug some from F. E. Wheeler a short time ago.

Albany—Watford

Trucks are hauling rocks from Ernest Brown's for the road which is being built at North Watford. Hugh Stearns was drawn as traveling juror from Albany to attend the Superior Court which will be held at South Paris, Nov. 7th.

Miss June Brown spent the week end with friends at South Watford.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cox of Rumford visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Canwell, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanderson of Stoneham, Mass., returned to their home Thursday, after spending some time at their camp at the Five Kezars.

Walter Lord and family enjoyed a visit from friends of New Jersey and Boston the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Lawin of New Jersey visited friends in this place Wednesday and Thursday.

Stanley and Fay Lord are working at Norway.

Camp Majestic has been occupied the past ten days by a party from Kennebunk.

Mr. and Mrs. John Meserve of Lovell were in this place Friday.

Acid—or Sour Stomach

This is a symptom of indigestion often caused by faulty diet, sometimes by overeating. Less sweets, starches or pickles for a while will help relieve the trouble. But be sure to use this safe and sure family remedy, "L. F." Atwood's Medicine. 50c bottle contains 60 doses.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

Sunday, Oct. 8. We have had a bountiful rain, commencing Friday night. This morning everything looks refreshed and the earth rejoices.

The Willing Workers met at Union Church Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 4, at 2 o'clock. This was their first meeting following the summer vacation and was well attended. This society has an enrollment of some over 25 working members.

An aunt of Mrs. Evelyn Barrett, who lived at Hale, passed away during the past week. Mrs. Barrett's mother, Mrs. Frank Coffin of North Woodstock, was with her sister during her last few days and many relatives from this town were in attendance at the funeral.

Gerald Davis was in South Paris Saturday delivering potatoes. During the past week he also sold a truck load of potatoes for shipment to foreign ports.

Walden Rider and Miss Blanch Ring spent the week end at Ryerson Hill. Mr. Rider's grandmother, a lady of 90 years, has recently come from Millinocket to visit his parents.

Mrs. Bernece Radloff Davis and daughter, Edith Minola, were at West Paris visiting relatives and friends Oct. 6.

Mrs. Velma Brown Davis was at Norway Saturday, shopping, and spent Sunday and Monday of this week at the Browns and Austin home at Bryant Pond.

On of the most enjoyable recent events held in this part of the town was an old fashioned corn roast held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Keenison on Curtis Hill. The special guests for the evening were members of the S. D. A. Church, Sabbath School teachers and members of the S. D. A. Church school, relatives, friends and neighbors. Everything was prepared for the feast, a whole hog roasted, big baskets of sweet corn, and a huge bonfire, while the heavens were lighted by the harvest moon. Many heads of families were presented with baskets of corn to take home thus further showing the much appreciated generosity of our Curtis Hill neighbors.

South Woodstock people are again attending the 44 Class meetings at West Paris. Rev. Maxwell holds the close attention of his audience. The 44 Class band, under the instruction of Myron Scarborough, has kept up its practice work during summer vacation and is now prepared to give an even more popular class of music than formerly. These meetings are held every Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

Miss Alice Chapman was a week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stearns.

Miss Radie Rowe, Mrs. Lowe, and Sam Lebrooke, called at James Kimball's Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stearns and Miss Alice Chapman were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wardwell.

Deferred

Sunday guests at James Kimball's were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Kimball, Locke Mills, Mr. and Mrs. John Lavin, Miss Clara Lavin and George Bray from South Portland; and Mr. and Mrs. Colby Robinson from Portland.

Rev. W. I. Bull called on Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wardwell Monday evening.

Mrs. Nancy Andrews attended the Missionary Meeting in Portland Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Skeels have closed their summer home at Hunt's Corner and returned to Savannah, Georgia.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1933

Newry, Maine
June 3, 1933
To the honorable board of County
Commissioners of Oxford County
State of Maine.

We, the undersigned petitioners do ask your honorable board to discontinue the piece of road in Newry from the driveway at F. I.
French's going past the schoolhouse to the tar road in the hill by the schoolhouse, except the right of way for the W. H. Bond road. Also the piece of road past the Don Smith place, from the place where it leaves the tar road to the place where it connects with the tar road.

STATE OF MAINE

(Seal)
County of Oxford, ss.
Board of County Commissioners,
September Session, 1933; held
September 19, 1933.

Upon the foregoing Petition, satisfactory evidence having been received that the petitioners are responsible, and that inquiry into the merits of their application is expedient, IT IS ORDERED, that the County Commissioners meet at the Don Smith Place, so-called, October 31, next, at ten of the clock A. M., and there proceed to view the route mentioned in said petition; immediately after which view, a hearing of the parties and their witnesses will be had at some convenient place in the vicinity, and such other measures taken in the premises as the Commissioners shall judge proper. And it is further ORDERED, that notice of the time,
place and purpose of the Commissioners' meeting aforesaid be given to all persons and corporations interested, by causing attached copies of said petition and of this order
thereon to be served up in the respective Clerk of the Town of Newry and also posted up in three public places in each of said towns,

Orange Girl in Her Bed of Oranges

Pretty Miss Joyce Brooks was selected as the orange girl to participate in the Los Angeles county fair, September 15-24, at Pomona, Calif. Miss Brooks is shown here in a pool of the golden fruit getting acquainted with a portion of her domain.

Strip of Land Held Up a Post Office Building

Hollister, Calif.—Construction on the new Hollister post office has been held up by a 3.5 inch strip of ground. The very narrow strip of soil, federal engineers disclosed, became "lost" years ago when the original owner of the property subdivided the property into lots.

When the government selected the lot for the new post office site, it demanded a 4 ft. strip. Title could be given to all but the 3 1/2 inch strip.

A friendly suit to quiet title has been filed by Joseph L. Lapham against Irene Holbrook and any other persons who may have claim to the tiny strip. Construction work will be held in abeyance until the suit is settled.

Hatch in Tree Top

Visalia, Calif. Apparently unconcerned as to how their offspring will manage to get down to Mother Earth, two mallard duck hens have laid all six of their eggs in a giant oak tree of Money grove.

Robin Hood

Doubt is pretty general of any truth in the story of Robin Hood, inasmuch as very similar tales are found in Germany and Scandinavia and appear to be part of the common heritage of all the related northern peoples. There is, at any rate, no proof of Robin Hood's existence, although the exploits of some local hero may have been the center around which the Robin Hood tales crystallized. Some authorities think he represents simply the remnant of the old Saxon race,
living in perpetual defiance of the Norman conquerors.

Pigeon Racing Popular

Pigeon racing is the national sport of Belgium. There is probably not a village in that country
that does not have its Belgium-Pigeon club, from which thousands of birds are shipped to France and other nearby countries each week to fly back home during the racing season. Pigeon fanciers from all parts of the country take part in the Grand National of Belgium, which is said to provoke more interest there than a war. series
in baseball, the Kentucky Derby,
or a Harvard-Yale football game
excites in the United States.

Washington's Home Gets Paving From England

Whitehaven, England.—Paving
from a sandstone quarry here has been sent to Mount Vernon, Va., to renew similar paving at Washington's home there. Red sandstone from this area of Cumberland was used in the building of the house.
The paving, of an unusually even texture, is of a cream color, and is difficult to duplicate. The quarries of the Whitehaven district have long been celebrated for their stone.

Eyes Reveal Most About

Disposition of People
The eye is the most difficult feature to read, but if properly studied tells the most, asserts a writer in the St. Louis Globe Democrat.
Three important things must be noted: Is the eye naturally deep-set or prominent? How much has the eye been changed in its position by the process of development of the individual and what is the degree of alertness and sensitiveness of the structure of the eye itself?

The deep-set eye, almond in shape, denotes intensity, mental breadth, observation, analysis, penetration and grasp of the conclusion; optimism tempered with reason, enthusiasm and force controlled by exercise of mental effort. The prominent eye—usually blue or brown but never gray—denotes keen sense perception, a person who lives more in feeling than in action. The subject will be sympathetic and emotional, with feelings easily aroused. This is the eye that is indicative of the mind that gathers information from books and from being told rather than from personal analysis; the mind that learns by rote and does not gather substance. The eye that is devoid of emotional expression indicates the functionally deficient type.

The sensual eye is dull and watery, prominent in setting, with no brow compression. An eye without color usually predicts a narrow mind, and small, oblique eyes that are narrow and sharply pointed at the ends indicate an cautious and vindictive nature, deceitful, morose
and irritable. In women, short, narrow eyes with fullness of the face formation at the corner of the eyes, combined with prominent cheekbones, indicate love of children and strong maternal instincts.

Save, no matter what your salary may be.

GILEAD

Mrs. Christine Griffin of Augusta spent the week end with relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. Harriette Fissette went to the St. Louis Hospital, Berlin, on Saturday where she underwent a serious operation. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Cora Heath has gone to Bethel where she has employment in the home of Mrs. Harry Lyon.

Mrs. Julia Losler of Tracadia, N. B., has arrived in town and is visiting her son, Larry Losler, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holden
were in Berlin Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Watson and family of Springfield, Mass., were called here last week by the death of his brother-in-law, John Richardson.

John E. Richardson

The many friends of John E.
Richardson of Gilead were sorry
to hear of his death, which occurred
Oct. 2d at the C. M. G. Hospital, Lewiston, following an operation
for ruptured appendix.

The deceased was born in Bethel
in 1866 the son of the late Ebenezer and Hannah Richardson. He was 67 years of age, a life-long and respected resident of the town. He was a member of the Mountain View Grange and a member of Mt.
Abram Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Bethel.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Richardson, a daughter,
Mrs. Florence Holden, a son, Carl
C. Richardson, a brother, George Richardson of Derry, N. H., and several other relatives. Although he was very much attached to his home and family his genial disposition made him everybody's friend.
His family may rest assured of having the sympathy of the whole community.

The funeral services were held
from his late home Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 4, at 2 o'clock with Rev. L. A. Edwards officiating. The burial and estate in which he was held was attended by the great abundance of beautiful flowers.
The bearers were Fred and Charles
Cole, Archie Heath, John McBride.
Interment was at Riverside Cemetery, Bethel.

Those from out of town attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs.
John Watson and family of Springfield, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, Derry, N. H.; Mrs.
Elizabeth Cook, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Littlehale, Mrs. Jennie
Littlehale, Mr. and Mrs. H. H.
Hastings, Fred Edwards, F. E.
Russell of Bethel; Mr. and Mrs.
Elmon Jordan, Lisbon; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peabody, Shelburne,
N. H.

BEAUS AND BELLES FEATURE OF SHOW

Hilarious Production To Be Offered
By Grange Next Monday and Tuesday Evenings

"Henry's Wedding" the three-act
comedy play which will be presented next Monday and Tuesday evening, October 16 and 17, at the Grange Hall, Bethel, promises to be one of the funniest productions
ever staged in Bethel or surrounding towns.

When you see Harold Lurvey as
"Uncle Henry," a bachelor bridegroom, trying to get married, being kidnapped, having his clothes
taken from him, and finally succeed in getting married in a pair of shorts, the fun and hilarious moments tend to keep the audience in an uproar throughout the play.

The biggest feature attraction
are the Beaus and Belles of the Gay Nineties. Thirty prominent business men are dressed in special costumes as Beaus and Belles, representing the different characters of the 1890 period. For instance,
B. P. Lyon as Miss Bustle, Elton
Daley as Miss Fantalette, Dr.
Ralph Hood as the Bowery Belle
and Earl Williamson as Gas House
Harry, dancing to the "Sidewalks of New York." Grover Brooks as Peg Pants Charlie and Sherman Allen as Miss Hobbleskirt play in the shade of the old apple tree.
Ralph Burris and Warren Brown as Miss Hobbleskirt and Beau Brummell, dancing a Virginia reel to the tune of "The Irish Washerwoman." These are but a few of the thirty men who will entertain in
"Henry's Wedding."

Then we have the Mystic Shrines,
Thirty men and women singing
old time spirituals such as "Hear Dam Bells," "Sing You Sinners,"
"Hallelujah," etc.

And don't forget the forty peep
chorus girls.

"Henry's Wedding" has played throughout New England with the greatest success and is, without a doubt, the funniest amateur production ever staged.

Every one is going. Don't forget the date.

You can't afford to miss it. The show begins at eight.
The license has been issued. The preacher is all set.
For this is "Henry's Wedding."

One grand time you can bet.
The play is being directed by Miss Ysabel MacGangler of Universal Producing Company and is for the benefit of the Bethel Grange.

NEW HEIGHT MARK
SOUGHT BY COSYNS

Former Aid of Piccard to Ascend This Summer.

Brussels.—Soaring from a small village near Brussels, Prof. Max
Cosyns, former assistant of Prof.
Auguste Piccard, will make a new ascension into the stratosphere this summer.

Accompanied by Jean Willemis, director of the scientific research department, Cosyns hopes to set a new altitude record and gather much complementary data on the action of cosmic rays in the stratosphere.

The balloonist will take off from Ardennes-Hour-Havannes, 140 kilometers from Brussels, some time between June 15 and September 15.
Belgian soldiers already have begun clearing the ground and preparing to aid in the take-off.

According to plans a free balloon
will be attached to the stratosphere balloon to check the usually too rapid ascent and permit careful study of atmospheric conditions at varying altitudes.

In his preparation for this third ascent into the stratosphere, Cosyns will not be aided by Piccard, with whom he is reported to have severed scientific relations, following a dispute on the latter's methods of research during their ascent last year.

Professor Piccard made his first flight from Augsburg in 1931. His second was made with Max Cosyns
as assistant in 1932 from Zurich,
when they reached a height of more than 50,000 feet.

Piccard has just returned from the United States, where he has been planning a stratosphere ascent from the Arctic.

Following the dispute between Piccard and Cosyns the latter decided to make an ascent of his own and applied to the scientific research department for funds. It appointed Jean Willemis, director of the department, to supervise the preparations and accompany Cosyns
on his flight.

Former Kaiser's Motor
Is Up for Sale at $50

London.—Fifty dollars will buy

the former Kaiser's motor car.

It's new, it has silk tapestry upholstery, embossed imperial arms, a concealed luncheon table, and a cocktail cabinet, and it cost somewhere close to $8,000 to build.

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm ordered it, but

that's where the deal stopped at the moment. It is lying in a small garage in Munich. The light

gleams on the immaculate burr-wood and finish of the enormous top. The tires are practically new, a written guarantee says the engine is in first-class condition, and still it is unsold.

John Kitcher, owner of the garage, is proud of his temporary possession; but he wants to sell it. He was asked:

"Why isn't it sold? What's wrong with it?"

"Nothing at all," replied Kitcher.

"But you see the British tax on it is forty pounds (about $132) a year,

and a gallon of gasoline only drives

it seven miles. Plenty of people could afford to buy it, but there are few who could afford to run it."

Carlsbad Caves

Carlsbad caves, New Mexico, were made a national park in May, 1930.
They consist of a series of lofty,
spacious chambers and connecting corridors, with alcoves extending to the sides, that are of remarkable beauty. The park has an area of only one square mile, although the caverns extend for miles underground. The most impressive portion of the caves is the Big Room, an enormous chamber 1000 feet long with a maximum width of 250 feet.
At one place the ceiling rises to a height of 200 feet.

KIDNAPING MOSTLY DONE BY GANGSTERS

"Amateurs" Usually Display a Lack of Skill.

New York.—A new light may have been thrown on kidnaping in the United States the other day when the police closed in on the men involved in the abduction of little Margaret McMath of Norwellport, Mass., and found, instead of a group of desperate gangsters, two Cape Cod merchants, says the New York Times.

The fact that the Buck brothers were not gangsters does not disprove the frequently made assertion that there are organized bands in the United States who specialize in this particularly vicious and cowardly type of crime. There is plenty of evidence that kidnaping groups do exist. But the McMath case suggests that many kidnappings are attempted or carried out by men who may be described as amateurs.

Began With Racketeers.

The history of organized kidnaping, as investigators have pieced it together, is that it began with the abduction of racketeers, gangsters, gamblers and others not on good terms with the law by fellow denizens of the underworld. The victims in such cases were rarely in a position to appeal to the police.

So far as can be ascertained, and the theory is borne out by the records, organized kidnapers prefer to deal with adults, probably because a kidnaped adult can be bargained with directly and because popular indignation does not reach quite so high a pitch. While they invade the normal, law-abiding world they deal in large figures. The kidnaping of Charles Rosenthal, a New York broker, in August, 1931, asked for and got $200,000 ransom. They also got, without asking, 30 years in prison when the four of them were captured and convicted.

Sixty thousand dollars is reported to have been paid for the release of Claude Butcher, son of a wealthy Denver man, kidnaped last March. John Factor of Chicago, sometimes known as "Jake the Barber," is said to have paid $100,000 for the release of his young son, Jerome, though it must be added that Factor refused to confirm this statement. One hundred thousand dollars was demanded of Michael D. Katz of Kansas City, $150,000 of Dr. Anne D. Kelly of St. Louis, $75,000 of Mrs. Nell Donnelly of Kansas City, $50,000 of Benjamin Bower, a Denver broker.

Risky Enterprise.

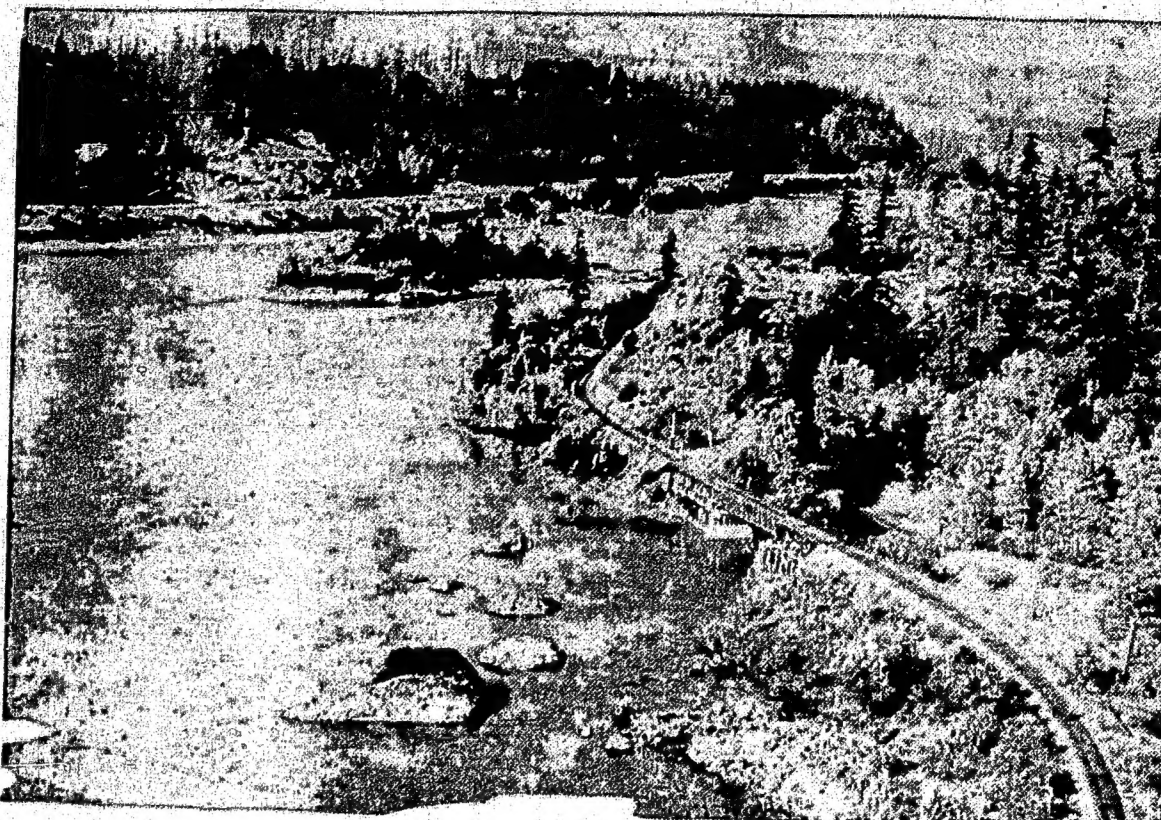

Nevertheless, kidnaping is a risky and uncertain enterprise, particularly since "Whiskers," as the United States government is said to be called in the underworld, entered the field in opposition. Until last year it was difficult for federal officials to make a case against kidnapers, even when the United States mails had been used or victims carried across state lines. Two statutes, passed by congress in June and July, 1932, remedied this situation.

One of them imposes a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a fine of $5,000 for the use of the mails to convey threats to injure, to kidnap, to accuse of crime, or to demand ransom or reward for the return of an abducted person. The second provides for cases in which a kidnaped person has been carried across a state, territorial or international boundary of the United States; the judge on conviction may impose any penalty up to life imprisonment. This is said to be the only federal statute in which such discretion is allowed.

Lumberjack's Duties

A lumberjack tells and prepares timber for the mill. His work may be any one of the processes involved, from the chopping of the tree in the forest to the delivery of the logs at the mill. The lumberjack may also have to cut roads through the forest or even build railways where there is no way of floating the logs. He must be a good judge of timber, and be able to estimate closely the number of board feet in a log. He must have physical strength in order to stand the heavy work long hours, and extreme cold, the thermometer often falling as low as 40 or 50 degrees below zero in the more northern districts.

Site of Columbia River Reclamation Project

General view of the Columbia river just west of Bonneyville, Ore., where it will be necessary to take up the Union Pacific tracks shown and tunnel them through the rocks to higher grounds as part of the plan calling for the expenditure of $93,000,000 for the erection of a power dam and reclamation project. The plan, which has received the approval of the President, would furnish the country with the cheapest electricity manufactured and would set a precedent for prices on the west coast.

WILSON'S MILLS

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Littlehale and family were at Sunday River Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen of Skowhegan, who are caretakers at Errol dam while Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick are on their vacation, called on her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. West, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tidwell of Turner called on relatives in town Sunday.

The children have picked a number of strawberry blossoms, dandelions, blue violets, and one little white violet, and I can see a buttercup in blossom from my window now.

Gerald Littlehale is working at the dam again as work on the road is completed.

Lewis Olson is much better than he was. He worked on the road a few days.

Lumber has arrived in town for the fire warden to set up a public camping ground and conveniences for same, which, I understand, is to be on Black Island.

The school children are working on a program for Halloween now. They have some pretty songs.

Two carloads of men have gone up Abbott Brook to work in the woods.

Mike Marshall of Bethel is preparing to log at Sturtevant Pond.

The Brown Company has a separate crew on Abbott Brook besides Henry Egan with Johnnie Keenan in charge.

Louise West of Norway has been calling on relatives in town.

BRYANT POND

F. & A. M. Installation

A semi-public installation of the officers of Jefferson Lodge, F. & A. M., was held Tuesday evening, Oct. 3.

The Officers were installed in an able manner by District Deputy G. M. Ernest Blaise of Bethel, assisted by Earl Davis as Marshal and G. W. Q. Perham as Chaplain. The officers are as follows:

W. M.—Homer Farnum.
S. W.—Edwin Perham.
J. W.—Claude Gushman.
Treas.—Harry Swift.
Sec.—Lester Bryant.
S. D.—Ned Swan.
J. D.—Roy Newton.
Chap.—Clarence Perham.
Marshal—Fred Cole.
S. S.—Gordon Farnum.
J. S.—Rupert Farnum.
Tyler—Fred Farnum.

Mrs. Gertrude Redman rendered two vocal solos, and the Grange orchestra gave several selections. An oyster supper was served.

P. T. A. Reception

The P. T. A. held their first meeting last Thursday evening. An informal reception was given to the teachers and school board. The program:

Piano Solo, Barbara Cole.
Essay, (written by a Freshman), read by Miss Eva Billings.
Vocal Solo, Mrs. Gertrude Redman.
Talk on Trip to Century of Progress Exposition by Supt. Ray Robinson.
Ice cream and cake were served.

Franklin Grange held its regular meeting last Saturday evening with a good attendance. The first and second degrees were conferred on a class of six.

The members of the Garden Club accepted the invitation of Mrs. Francis Hayes to tea at her home Friday afternoon. About 20 members were present and a very delightful time was enjoyed by all.

B. H. Billings was at Merrymeeting Day on a hunting trip from Monday to Wednesday last week. Mr. and Mrs. H. Alton Bacon spent a few days at Harpswell this week.

Mrs. Levie McAllister, who underwent a serious operation in the C. M. G. Hospital, is getting along well.

HAPPY-GO-LUCKY 4-H CLUB

The Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club met at the home of the leader, Mrs. A. J. Stearns, Tuesday afternoon. There were not enough members present so we did not hold a meeting. The next meeting will be held next Tuesday afternoon.

Reporter—Kathleen Wight.

The Fourth Lovely Lady

THERESE BENSON

SERVICE - COPYRIGHT THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Following the splendor of her niece, Cintra, to the city, which she has financed, Smith, lovely (Smith) by a mistake, youngest and the weightiest of the four sisters, finds herself in a decided financial straits. She has plans for the future, which she refuses to discuss, and she is prominent in the New York society.

CHAPTER II.—The historic Lovelyston, in Virginia, is the home of the Smiths. Smith's brother, Bill Lee, is unable to maintain the place, and a lovely girl is living in Chile, while the Smiths are in the city. Smith's dearest wish is to see her brother, to which she feels her brother will not return.

CHAPTER III

Louise. "It would prevent her acting on impulse because she misses Cintra so terribly. When she came back, Laura would be in her own apartment. Lucy could find summer quarters counting on Smith, and if the depression's over, Ned and I will have a bigger house, so that we could share her among us."

Her elder sisters regarded this new talent for organization as very irritating. They loved Smith—at a reasonable distance. They had no desire to add anyone so conspicuous to their households. Louise was too ready with her plans.

"You talk as if Smith were a pauper," said Laura fretfully. "I only hope she isn't," Louise had just rejoined when Smith's voice warned them there was scant time for further consultation.

She came in on them, cheerful and glowing.

"Hello, you dears. Decided my fate? Exile in Chile or a sweet little house in the country?" this clairvoyance remaining unanswered, she went on: "Had a radio from Leicester. Sent regardless of expense, the spendthrift!" she resumed, fumbling in her bag. Producing it, she gave it to Louise to read aloud.

"Thank God her hair curls naturally still resigned love Leicester."

"His earlobe sure is a good scout," Smith commented.

Laura returned to the attack.

"Lucy says you were clever, Louise says you were selfish. Yet if Cintra hadn't married Leicester—"

"Exactly," Smith nodded, "with her looks she was bound to marry. I haven't told you half I said to Leicester. You see, I genuinely liked him. What he wants in a wife is a sort of featherbed who'll look distracting in court dress, who'll have dozens of children and who'll never embarrass him by offering ideas of her own. English girls are too advanced and argumentative, he tells me. And so, at last, I'm free. Free to live as I please, not governed by thought of what will be best for Cintra. Not according to any rule laid down by others. To find adventure—"

Every word she said seemed to bring the headhunters nearer to Louise.

"Oh, Smith—not adventure! Really, darling, I can understand your need of a change after the strain of the wedding. Why not a sea trip? The new South American steamers are fabulous."

"And summer is just beginning there," Lucy backed her up enthusiastically. "You'll see Bill Lee, and if you don't like it, you—"

"He'll see you—"

"He'll see you—"

"Can come back and find the little place in the country you consider appropriate?" Smith looked up from the cigarette she was tamping. "You're precious angels, all of you, and as transparent as glass. Don't you suppose I realize that a pauper sister is going to be extraordinarily inconvenient?"

"You're not a pauper, Smith."

"So near that you couldn't tell the difference with the naked eye," Smith returned cheerily. "Another reason for trying to break off the match with Leicester, although I never gave it a thought. There were half a dozen plutocratic morons who, being Americans, would not have expected settlements."

"Smith!" Lucy exclaimed absolutely aghast. "Don't tell me you gave Cintra any of your money?"

"Most of it," Smith nodded. "I hope a lovely has some pride. Most of what was left, I settled on her when she was married. It wasn't too much. You wouldn't have wished our niece to go to England penniless, would you? And poor Bill Lee—"

"Don't say you've been giving him money, too?" Lucy interrupted.

"When he would take it," Smith returned with the utmost serenity. "The way he was left was most unfair, and I'm afraid he'll never make a business man. So, if Lovelyston is to come back into the family, I'll have to be the one to manage it."

"You don't make money if you're a missionary," Lucy offered this argument as conclusive.

"Who said I was going to be a missionary? Not that it matters. The kind of missionary I mean to be can make money. Lots of it. I intend to be a missionary to the rich—exclusively!" said Smith. "I spent ten years and most of my money establishing our niece suitably, and now I refuse to submit to another burden of boredom gratuitously. If I'm bored, some one is going to pay me for it. I've no one to consider but myself."

"What are you going to do?" Lucy asked. "You talk and talk without telling us anything."

Smith puffed her cigarette meditatively.

"I'm thinking how to explain it to you," she said at last. "You're nothing against rich people, I suppose. After all, they're human, aren't they? We hear a lot about the deserving poor, while no one has a word for the deserving rich. From now on, I mean to devote my energies to their relief."

"Smith, please don't be tantalizing," Louise urged, understanding her better than the others, "tell us straight out what you mean to do."

"It requires explanation," Smith said, "principally because no one has openly embarked on it before as a profession. There are lots of people skirting the edge of it, people who more or less prey on the rich, hangers-on of all kinds who have no thought of giving any return for the money they exact. Whereas for years where I am concerned the boot has been on the other foot. The rich have come to me and dumped their troubles on my shoulders and I've given them sympathy, advice, pluck to carry on with when their burdens grew too heavy; my time, my companionship—all free gifts so long as I could afford it. Now I can't afford it, and I propose to make them pay for just those things. I'm going to in the future."

She had told her sisters the hard truth when she had said that the gown she wore was the only good day dress she possessed. Since it was useless for anybody with her figure to attempt to shop in the ordinary department stores, sheer necessity directed her steps to a Fifth Avenue dressmaker who had contributed very satisfactorily to her niece's trousseau.

Madame Georgette, who swept out to meet her, greeted her formally. Madame Georgette's French ended with her name. She was Irish, with a large heart and a fine flair for the next fashion in clothes.

"Madame requires," she began elegantly. Instead of with the usual shop formula: "Can I help you?" Then, seeing who her customer was, she changed her tone: "You're always a sight for sore eyes, Miss Louise. These days when you're strutting in luck, I hope it's a real sea you're waiting for you. It's time."

"Not a chance of it," Smith laughed. "I just want one frock, durable and reasonable."

"I'll make it as reasonable as I can. I don't mind telling you I'm glad to have anything to keep the workroom busy. What it costs me and no more, if you find a model that suits you, and I think I've just the thing."

announce myself as a little sister of the rich—at a high rate per consultation."

"No one will come to you under such conditions," Lucy sniffed, "the idea's absurd."

"Your mistake, my dear," Smith assured her amiably. "I've several clients already. And, whether you believe it or not, this enterprise will all a want. There are people in need of exactly what I can give. I've had it in mind for years."

"Doesn't it occur to you that you are likely to come in contact with some very undesirable people?" Lucy asked.

"Certainly," said Smith, "almost sure to, in fact; and, looking on the bright side, why not some very desirable ones as well? At all events, they'll be new, and I pine for novelty after years of Cintra's monotonous beauty. Why, girls, I'll meet women—and men too—who've not led our cramped little lives, all crowded against our neighbors and their prejudices like pot-bound plants without room to grow—and who'll be none the worse for that, although they may have their own troubles. I honestly believe that what I have to sell them will be worth all I'll ask."

"But what have you to sell?" Lucy asked. "Please tell me that much."

"Comfort and common sense," Smith replied without hesitation. "Worth every penny they'll pay me. . . . And now I'm going, leaving my reputation for sanity behind me. Good-by, you dears. Don't worry more than you have to."

When the elevator door closed behind her Lucy exhaled audibly, as if she had been holding her breath.

"Well, this business of being Cintra has affected her brain. To protect her, she ought to be shut up."

"Don't be silly," Louise, under stress, asserted herself strongly. "Smith's as sane as you. Don't you agree with me, Laura?"

"I agree that Smith's perfectly sane, not that I wouldn't try to have her restrained if I thought it either necessary or any use. It isn't, Lucy, so put that idea out of your head. Moreover, it's my opinion you'll be safe in following my example and just not worrying. I don't believe there's anything to worry about. Consider what she proposes to sell. 'Comfort and common sense.' Who in the world would pay a penny for either of those?"

Susan Phelps, whose wealth and influence were both great, was Smith's most enthusiastic sponsor and adviser. She had experience of Smith's influence in calming Charles's twittering nerves. Mr. Charles, to whom she was persuaded she was devoted, was a tiresome, repetitious, nagging little man with the kindest heart in the world and, now that I am was of marriageable age, she found herself too occupied to listen to his reiterated complaints and conjectures. Smith was assured from the start of a substantial sum from consultations with Charles Phelps.

Smith had arranged to sublet her old apartment and rent for herself two rooms with a tiny kitchenette

"I'll make it as reasonable as I can. I don't mind telling you I'm glad to have anything to keep the workroom busy. What it costs me and no more, if you find a model that suits you, and I think I've just the thing."

A couple of girls received orders to dress and while she waited, Smith talked casually.

"Is business really so bad?" she asked.

"It's useless for me to try to hide it when you've only to look around you," Madame Georgette answered. "The bottom of me purse is stickin' out of the top. I took a lease on the three lower floors of this building when everything was on the up and up, and that's why I've more room than I want and no help for it."

Her heart beating rapidly, almost unable to believe her eyes, Smith stared around her. They were on the second floor of the establishment and it seemed designed expressly for her purposes.

"What part of the premises do you wish to reserve for yourself?" she asked breathlessly. "Could you get along without this floor?"

"As a'y as ye'd get along without a hollow tooth," the woman answered eagerly. "Do ye know of anny one who'd like to take it off me hands?"

Again Smith looked around her. "Not with your fittings, I'm afraid."

"To be sure not. 'Tis more than I could expect. There's little here but draperies, an' they can be racked away. The lounge chairs I could use down stairs until better times. 'Twould save storage." The woman's quick brain had settled all details in a flash. "Do ye think there's anny chance of me rentin' it, Miss Lovely? It might make just the difference to me between sinkin' or swimmin'. I don't mind tellin' ye that I'm overladen. Miss Cintra's dresses was a grand help—"

In her agitation and sudden hope Madame Georgette was babbling. Smith stopped her good humoredly. "Fix a moderate price for a frock and, once we've settled that, I'll tell you what I have in mind for this floor if you can really spare it."

Madame Georgette, amazed, incredulous, doubtful of the success of so unusual a venture when at last she was won over, threw herself wholeheartedly into the details of furnishing the stage-setting and incidentally saved Smith both money and annoying delays.

The word lovely having an unfortunate connotation, from the inception of the plan Smith had known that she must take a business name, and finally she struck on the name Salton. It was in no known language, but it sounded as if it might, and before she had expected it, Smith found herself launched as Madame Salton.

Her staff consisted of one small boy. He was dressed in black with many gilt buttons. A round braided cap of jade green, poised over one ear and held by a gilded chain strap, lent him picturesqueness. The diminutive infant was officially entitled Buttons and entered into his duties with enthusiasm.

Rats Show Cunning in Stealing Eggs

Monroe, Ia.—A backyard mystery was cleared up here with the explanation of Mrs. C. H. Sutton, an authority on the cunning of rats.

Eggs had been missing from nests, and one farmer, while digging around his henhouse, found several eggs still intact, in rat holes.

The question arose as to how the rats could carry the eggs into a hole. Mrs. Sutton explained the rat system of nest robbing.

Two rats do the work. One lies flat on its back with its feet in the dirt while the other rat rolls the egg up on the stomach of the reclining rat, which holds the egg in that position with its four legs.

The other rat then takes the tail of the rat holding the egg and drags it into the hole.

CAPITOL POLICE HEAD

Capt. William S. Ortman, who was recently named chief of the police force of the United States Capitol in Washington, Captain Ortman was a member of the Chicago police force for many years.

Laws Are Not at Fault; Some Officials Inefficient

To assert that the evils and failures of enforcement cannot be remedied by revising the law is one thing. To say how they can be corrected is quite another. There is no simple cure, writes John Parker in the Atlantic Monthly.

Since it is suggested here that the end will eventually be attained only through developing, sometimes by instruction, the character of the law's agents. The efficiency of the police will be improved by better pay and longer tenure of office. Preventing attorneys may be taken out of politics. More important than all else, the judiciary will have to be developed in strength and independence.

But, whatever the means evolved, one thing can be dogmatically asserted now. Able men can make deficient law effective; but the best law cannot make incompetent men efficient. And the enforcement of law will never be greatly improved until the public comes to think of enforcement as a matter of men, rather than as a matter of rules.

Who the Jayhawkers Were

The name "Jayhawker" originated in Kansas during the contest over slavery just before the Civil war. Bands of slavery men and free soil men ravaged farms, drove away horses and carried on a guerrilla war. The free-soil men called the slavery men border ruffians, while the slavery men in turn called the free-soil men Jayhawkers. The most probable derivation of the latter word is from jayhawk, a fierce bird of prey, which it is said kills other creatures for the mere love of killing. The people of Kansas have been humorously nicknamed Jayhawkers and Kansas is sometimes called the Jayhawk state.

Leipzig Fair Success Despite World Slump

Leipzig.—The Leipzig fair, long the barometer of business conditions, has given an excellent account of itself this year. In the face of the world-wide depression, the attendance and volume of business transacted compares very favorably with other years.

According to the official report the fair included 6,202 exhibitors, representing every phase of modern industrial life. The foreign participation was especially gratifying since 23 countries outside of Germany sent 632 exhibits. More than 115,000 business men attended. The volume of business transacted in all divisions of the fair proved highly satisfactory in view of the industrial unrest.

A great many of these foreign buyers have remained in Germany following up business contracts made during the fair, entailing visits to factories throughout Germany.

Wolf Pit Believed to Be Old Spanish Mine

Sylvan, Miss.—An old mine, overlooked for years by state geologists as a wolf pit, has been discovered three miles from here by M. P. Finnegan, a prospector. He believes Spaniards conducted mining operations here before they were driven out by the French.

The tunnel was found after digging through 20 feet of mixed dirt, which showed it had been thrown there by early miners. The tunnel is 6 feet deep, but its width and length have not yet been determined. Finnegan is working to determine how far into the hills it extends.

Many Make Mistakes on Age of Rare Furniture

It is not unusual to hear someone speak of seeing or having a Chippendale, Hepplewhite or Sheraton table or chair that can be traced back over 200 years; but if a few dates are remembered many mistakes can be avoided, writes Edith B. Crumb in the Detroit News.

The "Big Four" of the Georgian period, Chippendale, Adam (Robert and James), Hepplewhite (or Heppelwhite as it was sometimes spelled) and Sheraton could not have created furniture 200 years ago as their work was brought to perfection between 1750 and 1800. Chippendale was born in 1710; Robert Adam, 1728; the date of Hepplewhite's birth is not on record, but it was between that of Adam and Sheraton; Adam was not born until 1751. So it is no small wonder that the age of a piece is sometimes questioned.

Chippendale was a very colorful figure in England in his time. He had plenty of competition, but he was a good advertiser, his magnetic personality making it possible for him to surround himself with the best means of identifying furniture in his style. First there is the splat back, showing the influence of the Dutch design, the splats varying in their decorative effect; then the Chinese influence, showing more geometrical motifs, and then the ladderback chair, a very simple but attractive one and one that is copied a great deal today.
